

Trust us, this entire nightmare pales in comparison to the Caribbean Crisis.

He means Cuba.

But yeah, Jack and friends brought us way closer to the brink than everybody thought.

To say nothing of that laboratory accident in oh-two-five. Now that could have ended all life on the planet.

Thankfully, the unthinkable was averted by the usual: human ingenuity, divine providence, and a dash of foolish luck.

Jesus Christ.

Is this man Theodore Roosevelt?

Easy, fanboy. T.R. doesn't like it when people make a big --

Mister President, I... I am heartily sorry for being unable to remove my hat for you, sir.

And I apologize for my younger self's absurd attire.

Especially because you appear to have been an actual herdsman, not some milk-and-water pretender.
